

TVET and Workforce Development

International Competence Development in Technical and Vocational Education and Training (TVET)

This module contains courses, which are dealing with the planning and development of TVET programmes and their evaluation, including the exploration of vocational educational demand. Core of the training are also methods for exploring work-process knowledge as content for TVET programmes. Human resource development is another topic of the module with the perspective of workforce development. In this context, the transfer of work-process knowledge dominates the design of the course programme and the competence development of the participants.

Content, elements, format and duration can be customised to the respective needs.

This module includes the following courses:

- Course 1: Planning & Development of Programmes and Courses – Exploring Work-Processes
